

HUMIC SUBSTANCES, PEATS AND SL (Special Publications)

by W WILSON

References - Springer Link Publication Date (Web): September 26, 1996 . Ionic strength in the range of 0.1 M KCl and humic substance concentration in the range of 5-100 mg/L had little effect on the pyrolytic approaches for the molecular characterization of humic substances. - Csicsi Special thanks to Peter Beale for regularly reminding me. This publication is written primarily for agronomists, soil scientists, consultants and other farm In 1786 Achard isolated the first humic substances from soil and peat bogs using McLaughlin MJ, Hamon RE, McLaren RG, Speir TW, Rogers SL (2000) Review: A. Molecular Structure in Soil Humic Substances - ACS Publications 30 Dec 2014 . Fulvic acid reduced slightly the bioavailability of NDLCBs compared to oil. Humic acid and Sphagnum peat reduced it significantly higher whereas activated carbon reduced the most. Details are provided in previous publication [17]. ..
